

Prostate Cancer Screening, 2016

Males, aged 40 and older, who have had a prostate-specific antigen (PSA) test within the past two years.

The national median for having a PSA test within the past two years is 39.5 percent. South Dakota has 40.8 percent of male respondents who have had a PSA test within the past two years.

Maine has the lowest with 28.9 percent, while New Jersey has the highest with 50.0 percent of male respondents who have had a PSA test within the past two years.

Nationally, Male Respondents Aged 40 and Older, Who Have Had a PSA Test Within the Past Two Years, 2016

Source: The Behavioral Risk Factor Surveillance System, South Dakota Department of Health, 2016